MORIARTY TO DEMAND FIN. COM. REMOVAL

President James T. Moriarty of the City Council concluded an ecoriation of the Finance Commission today by saying that he would ask Gov. Fuller to get rid of every member of the commission and appoint a board that would properly represent Boston. He accused the commission of deliberate lies in its report of the Council's trip to hospitals in New York and Chicago. He said the Commission intends holding up the last pay check of every Councillor who made the trip, and said if this was done he would ask Secretary Dowling to pay back to the city the money he was paid for salary while in Europe.

JAIL AND FINES FOR RUM UNION MEMBERS

Jail sentences and fines were imposed by Judge Cooper in Federal Court today upon George Weinstein, Ernest "Dutch" Henry, Louis Seigel and Sam Zetzel, found guilty of conspiracy to violate the dry law in connection with the Manufacturers' Liquor Union of the Chelsea rum ring. Weinstein, Seigel and Zetzel were sentenced to the House of Correction, Worcester, for 18 months and each was fined $1,000. Henry will serve a year and a day in Plymouth House of Correction when he completes a four months' sentence imposed for liquor violation. He also was fined $1,000. Weinstein and Henry sentences were stayed until further notice.

DR. MAGRATH CALLED TO ASSIST IN PROBE OF LEBLANC MYSTERY

Leominster, Dec. 21.—While the organs of the girl were being examined for poison today, State and city police began a hunt for six boys for questioning in the mysterious death of Lena LeBlanc, twenty-one-year-old prospective bride.

The boys are six of ten who escaped from the industrial school at Shirley on the day pretty Lena disappeared. Her body was found next day.

With the mystery growing deeper, Medical Examiner George Burgess Magrath, of Boston, was called into the investigation today.

Miss LeBlanc's body was found in Leominster Park Lake, and the leading theory advanced in the case is that she was kidnaped, outraged to death and thrown into the lake by a man who purposed to attack her.

The Boston Medical examiner, it was announced today, will assist in

ASSAILS 'LAWLESS' DRY ENFORCEMENT

Washington, Dec. 21.—A new local option amendment to the Constitution, to take the place of the present prohibition amendment, was proposed today by Senator Bruce, Democrat, Maryland. It would permit the voters of each county, parish, city or town to decide at a special election whether they wanted prohibition.

Washington, Dec. 21 (I.N.S.).—The prohibition war raging in Washington since Congress convened flared forth in a new assault by wets in the House today.

Representative Phillips of Pennsylvania fired his guns at "prohibition fanaticism" and charged that the dry amendment and the unwise changes in the constitution have undermined the government and brought to the

SALEM SAVANT WILLS BRAIN TO COLLE[illegible]

Salem, Dec. 21.—The brain of Professor Edward Sylvester Morse, noted zoologist, went by express today to the Wistar Institute of Anatomy and Biology in Philadelphia.

Professor Morse died Sunday, and it was found that he left instructions that his brain be removed and sent to the Philadelphia institution for examination to determine the physical relation between his brain and his hands—for Professor Morse was naturally ambidextrous.

Although himself a world famous anatomist, honored by Harvard and decorated by the government of Japan, Professor Morse could not in life discover why he was able to use his right and left hands with equal dexterity, but he determined that others should learn the secret after his death if his nerveless brain can give it.

Professor Morse died at Salem Hospital after a shock suffered several days ago. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the First Church, Salem.

DR. MAGRATH ASKED TO AID PROBE OF LEOMINSTER GIRL'S DEATH

the examination being made of the dead girl's organs.

State Detective Robert E. Mole of Worcester was assigned to the investigation today by District Attorney Baker, although the county prosecutor had declared he would not use the State police because he believed the case one of suicide.

His change of plan came during a conference with the dead girl's father, John LeBlanc, and with her fiance, Ernest Williams, at the district attorney's office in Fitchburg.

Medical Examiner Woodward was to have attended the conference, but he suffered a broken left arm and injuries today when his automobile skidded on the road at the Leominster-Fitchburg line, and crashed into a telephone post. Dr. Woodward was taken to the Leominster Hospital.

Following the conference, District Attorney Baker said to the Boston Evening American representative:

"I have talked at some length with the father and the fiance and told them we would go to the limit to solve the mystery.

"We have sent the vital organs to Boston to be examined and analyzed, and we cannot do much before we get the report on them.

"So far there is no motive, either for suicide or assault. From the facts so far I cannot see anything but suicide, but anything might develop.

AWAIT DEVELOPMENTS.

"The place where she was found was a wooded spot over a steep bank and it took four men to get her out. It would seem difficult for any man to take her there. So far I see no criminal aspect of the case although this opinion may be corrected by some futher development."

Pretty Lena LeBlanc vanished on the morning of December 17 while on her way to work and when her body was taken from the lake, she was declared by officials to have drowned herself.

Friends of the dead girl are now insisting that Attorney General Benton start an investigation of the girl's death and say she was murdered a suicide after but a superficial examination. They are also demanding to know why the medical examiner refused to perform an autopsy when first requested to do so by the parents of the dead girl.

The autopsy has proved beyond a doubt the girl did not die from drowning. The lungs contained not a single drop of water, proving the girl was dead when placed in the water.

The autopsy not only proved the girl did not die of drowning, but it failed to reveal the remotest reason why the girl should take her own life.

Only after Dr. W. S. Roos of the Harvard Medical School has completed his examination of vital organs will the cause of her death be known.

CONSULTS FORTUNE TELLER

Young Williams, who was to marry the girl next February, followed from grief and loss of sleep, has returned from New York, where, following advice from a fortune teller, he went in search of his bride-to-be.

William and Lena worked together and it had been his custom to call for and bring her home each day they were together. She told him not to call for her the following morning as she was not to report for work until an hour later than he. At 8:30 she left home for work and vanished.

Williams, he is but twenty years old, missed the girl during the day and stopped at her home that evening. When told she had not returned he was frantic. In desperation he consulted a fortune teller who told him to seek her in a large city, probably New York, and to that city he went in his little car.

When the body was found officials decided a superficial examination showed enough to issue a verdict of "suicide by drowning."

BANKS SHY OF GOLD PIECES

What one can't get, one is sure to want.

The annual rush for $2.50 gold pieces is on and the supply is exhausted in the coffers of the local banks.

The gold hunters of this denomination, remembering their experiences of last year and two years ago, began to rush the banks as early as October 15.

The Federal Reserve Bank, in charge of the distribution for New England, sifted the pieces according to the size of the bank. The demand has proven greater than the supply and the banks are forced to "no more" until after Christmas, when they will again pour into the banks—but nobody will rush into them then.

year-old boy whose arrest started the row between Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin and State Representative John J. Fitzgerald, was branded as a mental defective by two alienists and sentenced to Bridgewater State Hospital indefinitely.

Mullen is only seventeen years old. Golding seventeen, and Walsh twenty. They pleaded guilty to the indictments for robbery of Charles W. Preston of Boston on November 18. Other indictments were placed on file.

Judge Bishop announced the sentence was a "compromise," arranged between the prosecuting authorities and the defense in consideration of the plea of guilty.

Attorney William R. Scharton represented Mullen, Golding and Walsh.

District Attorney O'Brien recommended that Roper be committed to Bridgewater, but Judge Bishop told him a district attorney cannot make such a recommendation in the case of an offense punishable by life imprisonment.

Arrangements were then made for Roper to withdraw his plea of guilty to the charges of armed robbery, which carry a sentence of life imprisonment if the court wishes to impose it, and the boy pleaded guilty to the lesser charges of intent to rob and assault. District Attorney O'Brien then again recommended that he be sent to Bridgewater.

Before this recommendation was accepted, it was decided that he must be tested again by the alienists and this was done.

Drs. L. Vernon Briggs and Wilfred Oberholtzer testified as to Roper's condition after the others had been sentenced. Roper was represented by Attorney Dubin.

The doctors testified Roper was a mental defective and a defective delinquent, incapable of profiting by punishment, although they found no evidence of mental disease or organic nervous disease.

In interviewing him they found he gave contradictory answers and was "probably a pathological liar, upon whose statements no reliance could be placed," they said.

In four indictments, some linking all four defendants, others including one or more of them, the youths were charged with robbing six different men of money, watches, coats and other articles.

Roper, when arrested, asserted, according to police, he would not serve time, saying that once before when he was in trouble John I. Fitzgerald helped him. This led to the quarrel between Goodwin and Fitzgerald that developed the investigation by Attorney-General Benton into Goodwin's charges that political influence was saving habitual criminals from serving time.

Joseph Goggin, who was indicted jointly with Mullen on one indictment, was brought before Judge Bishop for arraignment today and pleaded not guilty. He was held in $10,000 bail for trial January 11.

DECLARES DRY LAW HAS 'SOWN THE WIND'

country a condition of lawlessness approaching anarchy."

"Prohibition fanaticism, religious intolerance, racial animosity and class hatred," he said, "have created this situation, and the end is not yet. We have sown the wind. Our children will reap the whirlwind."

Phillips, mentioned as a possible candidate for the governorship of Pennsylvania, attacked the views on prohibition held by Governor Pinchot. Phillips reviewed recent amendments to the constitution. He said:

"That the evils incident to the liquor traffic have been and still are serious will be conceded. But that the means and methods used to overcome these evils are unwise is becoming more apparent.

"Our autocratic, high-handed, lawless methods used in enforcing the Eighteenth Amendment, and the severe penalties frequently imposed for minor infractions, have reacted unfavorably. A fanatic is no more to be trusted in a position of great power that his homicidal maniac to be trusted with a six shooter."

Prohibition is not as popular as anticipated, Phillips declared, because "the amendment is now found incompatible with the spirit of the Constitution and out of harmony with other amendments."

The cost involved in compelling obedience to a law that violates the conscience, traditional usages and privileges of a considerable minority is too great to justify the attempt, he said.

"The destruction of property values without compensation, was an unfortunate beginning for a great moral movement," he continued.

"The lawless methods of its enforcement and underhand methods in gathering evidence have resulted in crimes more shocking to the public conscience than the evasion of the law it was sought to punish.

"Lawless methods in enforcement were to be expected from the pronunciamentos of the sponsors of the superior government which took over practical direction of the enforcement agencies, dictated penalties and policies and boasted of dead shots and desperate characters who, in the name of law and liberty were to enforce laws of doubtful propriety even before their legality had been established.

"The very nature of prohibition enforcement is in the direction of the corruption of agents of the government. It has caused such a break down in the vigilance of our guardians that great holes have been opened not only for the bribery, the grafter and the blackmailer, but also for the thug, the murderer and the degenerate.

"While the bootlegger is being pursued, the harder agencies unmolested."

Elsie Mackay Will Pay---May Yohe

"It does not pay. What Elsie Mackay has done will not bring her happiness. It is the first step that counts; her's is not a sure one."

So said May Yohe Smuts today, commenting out of the wisdom of her experience, upon the desertion by the famous actress of her equally famous actor-husband, Lionel Atwill, for Max Montesole.

It has been some time now since May Yohe, toasted actress of two continents, has trod the boards.

The former stage belle, who once held in the palm of her hand all the mystery and sparkle of life crystallized in the shape of the "Hope Diamond," who saw its glitter slip through her fingers along with the bitter sting of lost love; the one-time Lady Francis Hope of baronial castle and terrace, is now plain Mrs. John Smuts of No. 501 Columbus avenue, who gleans her thrills from a new radio and a new recipe and says "runaway love doesn't pay."

HER OWN EXPERIENCE.

"It is the first slipping step, made by erring husband or wife that counts," stated May Yohe, and smiling rather sadly, "I should know, for I one time slipped to a bad fall, when I ran away from Lord Hope and went to the ends of the earth with Captain Bradlee Strong.

"It was puppy love, and I know now that if my married bonds had been fashioned of real love our elopement would never have occurred.

"An escape from marriage bonds, such as Elsie Mackay seeks to find with Max Montesole, will never net her happiness in the end. She will undergo the sneers and snubs, sorrows and heart-pangs that the world deals to women who break faith—no matter their caste or kind. I doubt if her love for Montesole can stand the test.

FAVORS DIVORCE.

"I believe that an unhappy married life should go directly into divorce court bankruptcy. But if a wife is unfair, deceives her husband, carries on affairs with one hand while she pulls the wool over his eyes with the other—she is worse than if she had broken all ten commandments.

"If a wife or husband discovers that the other is taking wandering steps from home, demand a showdown immediately, seek a divorce lawyer. Cold love in marriages can never be warmed over. It was foolish for Lionel Atwill ever to hope that his wife could ever cherish the same affection for him.

"After all, no woman, or man either, can run away from life. He and she were born into it, and their lives must be governed by lawful living.

"Love is a strange, queer thing," ruminated the famous ex-queen of the stage, on whom life has played its own queer tricks in the shape of a 68-carat of blue flame that has descended with lightning bolts of disaster in various stages of her career, "but think I have it tamed at last."

CURSE IS QUIETED.

May Yohe turned to her silver-haired, smiling spouse, Captain John Smuts, who nodded a silent acquiescence. Since the Boer war captain, own cousin to General Jan Smuts, and the vivacious May forged their lives together in marriage twelve years ago, the curse of the "Hope Diamond" has cast a black magic spell over their struggling footsteps.

Its diamond darts has dogged their trail from sun-scorched South African veldts, through Cape Town mining rushes, to the little New Hampshire inn that mysteriously burned down with all their wordly wealth a few years ago. Now—and the romantic pair almost hold their breath for fear of deafroying their blissful dreams—the inxed diamond darts seemed to have burned themselves out.

Pressed as to who might do the "covering up," the registrar would only say: "Oh, they might be covered up anywhere along the line."

The total of cases submitted by Goodwin now reaches 31. In addition the police of the city are expected to turn in other probations, cases filed, nol prosses and the like before many days.

WIFE INDUCED MITCHELL TO TESTIFY

as he charged in the San Antonio statement which led to his court martial on charges of insubordination.

Asked what he meant when he charged that the Shenandoah survivors had been muzzled by the Navy Department, pending a whitewash board, Colonel Mitchell said that he intended to invite attention to the practice usually followed by the government in prohibiting survivors from talking until official investigations have been made.

Attorneys for the convicted air officer sought ineffectually to induce him to refuse to testify, as he did several weeks ago when first brought before the naval tribunal. They advised him that until the President approved his court martial sentence of five years' suspension from the army, he occupied a privileged status.

Apparently he went to the hearing room prepared to follow that advice, but Mrs. Mitchell, who accompanied him, asked that he give the court the evidence it sought and bring to an end the legal controversy in which he had been entangled for weeks.

When Major Leonard had finished with the witness a chance for cross-examination was declined by Lieutenant-Commander Charles E. Rosendahl, counsel for the Shenandoah survivors, of whom he is a ranking officer.

It was apparent to the survivors that the witness had "no expert knowledge of his own," said Commander Rosendahl, and "it would be futile and unnecessary for us to examine him."

PRENTICE'S INCENTIVE AT YALE FOUND

Miss Frances Perley Howard, Niece of His Employer, Blushingly Admits It

By GILBERTA SHOEMAKER

(Copyright, 1925, by Universal Service and the Boston Evening American, Inc. Reproduction prohibited.)

New York, Dec. 21.—The mystery surrounding the unexpected return of John Rockefeller Prentice to Yale, determined to wipe out past failures by future success, was solved today.

And as usual at the heart of the mystery was discovered—a girl!

Ever since the twenty-two-year-old heir to millions won the Hogan scholarship for industry and was discovered working at night in the New Haven Hospital as telephone operator, the question has been asked a thousand times:

"What inspired John Rockefeller Prentice, grandson of the oil king, to fight his way back into Yale University after he had been suspended for student escapades?"

Happily the answer is a girl of splendid character, of highest mental attainments; a girl of charm and beauty, with a sense of humor; a girl of poise without pose. Miss Frances Perley Howard, teacher in a Boston commercial school, is at the heart of the mystery that has veiled Rockefeller Prentice's career for the past few years.

She is the niece of Frank Chase, of the Chase-Parker Company, hardware merchants, No. 81 Pearl street, Boston, where young Prentice worked his way from errand boy to star salesman after he was suspended for college five years ago.

Now he is fighting back, regaining the recognition that he lost when he was famous, and winning new honors wholly on his own. Miss Howard is encouraging him to the utmost. They correspond often and regularly and treasure each other's letters. He spent last Christmas visiting her relatives, and will spend this Christmas, too, with them.

New York is the home of the couple's parents, but Boston is John Rockefeller Prentice's permanent residence, in the Melrose house of Frank Chase, his former employer, and uncle of Miss Howard, who lives only by her mother a few blocks away.

Love? No, there is no love affair between them—not yet, certainly. The lad laughed away the suggestion and the girl smiled, too, when questioned, saying that he has not proposed to her. But he is a wonderful boy, she declared—blushing a little at her own enthusiasm—and certain to succeed.

HINSDALE GIRL TAKEN FOR ALICE CORBETT

Troy, N. Y., Dec. 21 (A.P.).—A young woman who last week got an automobile ride from Pittsfield, Mass., to Albany, and who, it was believed, might be Miss Alice H. Corbett, missing Smith College student, is Regina Lenna Popper, 19 years old, of Hinsdale, Mass. Miss Popper is now working in a Troy restaurant and said she got an auto ride last week from Pittsfield to Albany, where she worked for several days, coming to Troy Friday.

BECKWITH BABY HUNTED BY SLEUTHS

Detectives were put on the trail of the $500,000 "Beckwith baby" today by two Boston men who claim to be the legally appointed guardians of the child.

Asserting that they have information that the baby is being secreted either in Los Angeles or Oakland, California, by Miss Anita Hodgkins, described as a religious worker, they have engaged the detectives to find both woman and child and to bring the child East for the court hearings on its dead mother's will in Providence next week.

The child's mother, Miss Lorania Beckwith, died in childbirth at a Los Angeles hospital. She was a cripple, deformed by infantile paralysis in childhood. Her property in Norfolk, Mass., and in Rhode Island was left largely by relatives, but the birth of the child, after she had made her last will, has thrown the case into the Rhode Island courts.

The Massachusetts guardians of the baby, Lawrence Beckwith, now ten months old, are Harry D. Dolan of Cambridge and Charles E. Houghton of Norfolk, appointed here because Miss Beckwith's legal residence was in this State. Miss Hodgkins, on the other hand, is the legal guardian in California.

Lawrence "Larry" Beals, automobile racing, named by Miss Beckwith as the father of her child, is staunchly supported by his wife in his version of his relations with the mother. Beals says he knew Miss Beckwith as a girl, and that later she financed him in the racing game, but denies he is the father of her child. Jealousy is the only reason he can give for the charge, he having married a girl Miss Beckwith envied.

FLED WITH RUM CHASER

New York, Dec. 21 (I.N.S.).—Somebody stole Rum Chaser No. 2325 today from the coast guard base at Clifton, Staten Island. A few hours later it was discovered adrift in the harbor. Rum running trickery is suspected.

Captain Carmine, commander of the coast guard division denied any guns were aboard.

"The incident doesn't amount to a hill of beans," he declared.

SOMERVILLE SLASHER'S BAIL SET AT $25,000

A charge of assault with intent to kill, against Antonio Marti of Dana avenue, Somerville, was dismissed today by Judge Sturtevant in Somerville Court, when Captain Carter of the Somerville police told the court that Marti was under indictment by the Grand Jury for the same offense. Bail was set at $25,000.

Marti, it is alleged, slashed his daughter, Mary, nineteen, about the face and neck, three days before Thanksgiving, when he became incensed at the thought of her being married on the holiday. He also tried to kill himself.

DEAF CAN NOW HEAR OWN VOICES BY NEW DEVICE

West Hartford, Ct., Dec. 21—Totally deaf students at the American School for the Deaf here are being taught how to speak in well modulated tones by means of a new machine, a combination of the radio and phonograph.

An eighteen-year-old girl, lacking all sense of hearing since she was four years old, was the first student to take part in an experiment with the machine. It proved to be a success and she heard and spoke her name for the first time, knowing from sign and lip-reading that it was her name.

Students now are being given oral and musical demonstrations by the new machine. In this way they are being trained to speak, as well as receiving instruction in vocal inflections and modulations.

$152,520 FOR TWO DROPS AT EAST BOSTON FERRY

Mayor Curley today awarded a contract to the J. Edward Ogden Company, Inc., of New York, for the installation of two electrically operated ferry drops for the East Boston side of the ferry system, at $152,520. William H. Ellis & Sons Company will build the foundations, for $19,750.

Some time tomorrow the Australian steamer Australind will arrive at the Army Base pier with a valuable cargo, including 3,000 bales of Australian wool.

GOODWIN'S SON GUILTY OF ASSAULT

Earl D. Goodwin son of Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin, was today found guilty of an assault upon Lawrence M. Jordan of Pleasant street, Winthrop, by a jury in Suffolk Superior Court.

The jury reached its finding after five hours of deliberation on Friday, and left a sealed verdict for Judge Mahoney.

Goodwin had been found guilty of the charge by Judge Barnes in East Boston court, but appealed, and the final decision is the result of the appeal.

The court affirmed the sentence of the East Boston Municipal Court and fined him $10, which he paid.

The charge against young Goodwin was that he punched Jordan in front of the Trident Community Garage on Saratoga street, last August. Jordan is a real estate and insurance agent.

When Judge Barnes found Goodwin guilty in lower court he offered to place the case on file, but Goodwin insisted that he be either found not guilty or fined, so he could bring the case to the superior court.

The trouble between Jordan and Goodwin arose after an automobile accident, not serious, in which they figured. At the time of the assault Goodwin claimed that Jordan had pushed into him and that he struck in self-defense. He attempted to have Jordan arrested but was denied.

FALLS 85 FEET TO DEATH

Hurrying from the plant of the Southgate Press on the seventh floor of the building at No. 85 Broad street in order to keep and engagement with the girl he was to marry the first of the year, William Burns of Chelsea stepped into the elevator well and met his death. He fell eighty-five feet, and his body was found today at the bottom of the well.

The tragedy occurred on Saturday afternoon after all the employes of the plant save Burns had left for their homes. The last two [illegible] to leave before the victim of the accident were the foreman, Charles T. Murphy and William Wilcox.

Before he had finished his work Burns telephoned to his fiance, Margaret Holland of No. 74 Sagamore avenue, Chelsea, where he also lived, and told her he would meet her in Scollay square.

Burns evidently thought the elevator was on the seventh floor when actually it had been stopped on the eighth. He stepped into the shaft.

Miss Holland was disappointed in the engagement, but when Burns did not appear on Saturday night or Sunday she became very much worried.

SNOWSTORM IS IN OFFING

The skies were gloomy today, with the mist and all—but that isn't the half of it.

By tomorrow night the temperature may drop and we may have some real snow, according to the weather bureau, which is up on those things.

The mercury cannot rest under 40 degrees today and the lowest weather is scheduled to prevail in the vicinity of New England for another twenty-four hours, whether you like it or not.

The entire country today, east of the Mississippi, was virtually a storm area, but colder weather was moving into the storm in the direction of Boston.

FLEEING MAN RUNS TO JAIL

Climbing a fire-escape to gain entrance to the third floor bedroom of Mrs. Ella Bromiek at No. 30 spring street, West Roxbury, according to the police, Joseph Loretta took $10 from a purse and made his escape.

When Patrolman Di Prato saw Loretta later in an alley off Spring street he gave chase through back yards and side streets and finally caught his man near the Charles street jail, on Fruit street.

Arraigned in Municipal Court, Loretta was held in $5,000 bail for a hearing December 28, charged with robbery and assault and battery on Mrs. Bromiek.

BULLETS CHASE TRIO; POLICE GET TWO

Third Man In Watertown Race Escapes When Auto Is Abandoned

A chase, marked by pistol shots on part of the police, preceded the capture of two Waltham men in Watertown today and the escape of a third.

Officer Searle first noticed an auto swerving from one side of the road to the other on Mt. Auburn street. He commanded the driver to halt, the only result being increased speed.

Street Patrolman Powers gave the same command with the same result, while in Watertown Square Patrolmen Callahan and Lilis got wise in vain to stop the car. The last two commandeered another car and gave chase, firing into the air in an effort to frighten their quarry. Finally the three pursued leaped from their car, each taking a different direction in flight. Patrolman Callahan captured Leonard Gagnon and Liston captured Vernon R. Boudreau, both of Waltham.

In court Gagnon was charged with driving while he was under the influence of liquor and with drunkenness. He pleaded not guilty and his case was continued to December 28. Boudreau pleaded guilty to a drunkenness charge and was fined $10.

Papa Ryan is out of work, and there are nine in his family. Danny was going to do something for each, but now—well, here are Joe, Pauline and Jimmie, waiting for Santa Claus.

HIS $9 PAY LOST, BOY CAN'T BE JOLLY SANTA

It takes a heavy fall to put the glooms into a fifteen-year-old boy—and still again, it doesn't take much to wreck a youth's Christmas hopes—but today was blue Monday for Danny Ryan.

There was a suspicion of mist in the blue eyes of Danny today, for two whole days have gone by and the $9 week's pay he lost Saturday turned up and it's only three days more before Christmas.

If it makes any better or any worse, Danny, too, is the sole support of his father and mother and six other kids. He has been for almost a month, while his father has been out of work.

A game kid is Danny, and he fought hard to be nonchalant and casual today as he told of his loss and what it meant.

Of course he had intended stretching the nine bucks over the greatest possible distance, but even $9, big as it looms in the eyes of a 15-year-old doesn't take care of the needs of nine persons.

So Danny, who lives at No. 6 Monument street, Charlestown, had selected a flock of cigar coupons he had collected and things looked pretty bright, when he discovered that his week's pay as an errand boy was missing.

Danny's mind was working on the problem of buying a present for each member of the family when he left for Cambridge on an errand Saturday noon. His pay envelope tucked away in an inside coat pocket, after delivering his goods, Danny dropped into a restaurant for a bite, but when it came time to pay his check he could not find his money.

WINTHROP YOUTH DENIES FOUR AUTO VIOLATIONS

William A. Cochrane, nineteen, of Tewksbury street, Winthrop, was in East Boston court, charged with taking an automobile without the consent of its owner, operating while under the influence of liquor, driving so as to endanger the safety of the public, and leaving the scene of an accident without making himself known. He pleaded not guilty to all the charges. Cochrane drove a car from Winthrop to East Boston that knocked down Mrs. Evelyn M. Dodge of No. 241 Lexington street, East Boston.

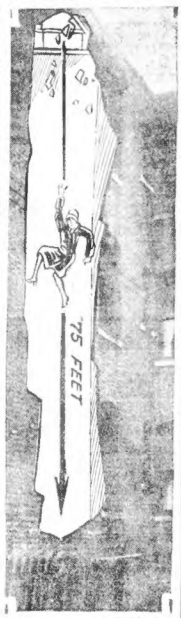
CALLED TO DEATH BY HER OWN RADIO



Mrs. Agnes G. Bowman of Dixwell street, Roxbury, went to the roof to fix the antenna of her radio. She stepped on a skylight and was dropped to instant death down the airshaft.

Police today started an investigation into the cases of the fall of seventy-five feet that caused the death of Mrs. Agnes G. Bowman of her home, No. 11 Dixwell street, Roxbury.

This woman stepped on a glass skylight on the roof and her body, carroming from wall to wall, fell seventy-five feet to the bottom of the airshaft, causing instant death.

The woman had been fixing a radio antenna on the roof. The report of the police investigation is the blood charge that the glass of the skylight was painted so that it resembled wood or iron, and accordingly was a menace.

Mrs. Bowman was a widow and was survived by the H. H. Wilson Company. She was the mother of three sons, Harold, Luke and John C. Bowman.

A minor death fire started in her apartment. Mrs. Bowman having lighted the gas stove before she went to the roof, and this ignited material in the room.

RESERVATIONS MAY DEFEAT WORLD COURT

Washington, Dec. 21 (I.N.S.).—The World Court fight was resumed in the Senate today with indications pointing more and more to its becoming, in the final analysis, "a battle of reservations" such as featured the protracted struggle over the League of Nations.

It was reservations that in the end accomplished the defeat of the League, and the foes of the World Court apparently are hopeful that history will repeat itself in the present struggle.

Recognizing the situation and remembering their history, the Democrats and pro-Court Republicans are pointing their efforts to the rejection of any and all reservations other than those originally proposed by President Harding when he submitted the question to the Senate. Senator Borah, who is leading the fight against the Court, already has introduced three reservations, and it is understood that more are to follow.

JAP QUESTION INVOLVED.

His first one would prevent the League of Nations from imposing any new duties or functions on the Court, his second would make it a condition of American adherence that no force, military or economic, shall be used to compel acceptance of the Court's opinions, and his third would prevent any "traditionally American question" being dealt with by the Court.

The "traditionally American questions" include those involving the Monroe Doctrine and the right of the United States to make and enforce its own immigration laws.

Despite strong administration opposition to any but the original reservations, considerable support already is insured for the Borah proposals, it was said today by the anti-courters.

CALLED UNNECESSARY.

A vision of Japan possibly bringing the Japanese exclusion act before the court for an advisory opinion is a bugaboo that is disturbing some western Senators. The pro-courters will lay considerable emphasis in the discussion to come on this phase of the problem and will keep that the court ever would entertain such a case if submitted.

The administration viewpoint toward the Borah reservations was expressed today by Senator Willis of Ohio.

Senator Borah's reservations are brilliant, but unnecessary," he said. "The first is already included in the resolution that the statute of the court shall not be amended without our consent. No force can be used against us as we are not a member of the League. It is already provided that the court has jurisdiction only in those cases we refer to it. It is impossible to think that any future American President would refer to the court such fundamentally American policy."

No Menace to Monroe Doctrine, Sen. Walsh Says

Washington, Dec. 21 (I.N.S.).—American adherence to the World Court involves no menace to the Monroe Doctrine, or other jealously guarded American policies, Senator Walsh, of Montana, asserted in the Senate today in a lengthy dissection of the duties of the tribunal, in which he sought to answer points raised by his opposition.

"Suppose," cited Walsh, "Great Britain and Brazil should engage in a dispute which they agreed to submit to the Court. Are we prepared to say to the South or Central American states that they cannot submit their controversies to any tribunal not of our choosing?"

Concerning the much discussed "advisory opinions" which the Court renders the League upon request, Walsh declared these opinions were the same in principle as obtains in some American States.

CANADA NAMES MOUNTAIN FOR U. S. WOMAN

New York, Dec. 21 (A.P.).—The Canadian government has honored an American woman by naming a mountain after Mrs. Carl Akeley of New York, wife of the African explorer, formerly Miss Mary L. Jobe herself a noted mountain climber and explorer. The mountain will be called Mount Jobe, and is one of the highest peaks of the northern Canadian Rockies, in the northernmost part of British Columbia on the Alaskan border. Mrs. Akeley has been a pioneer in exploration of the region during the last ten years.

So far as is known, no human being has ever set foot on Mount Jobe and it has not yet been surveyed.

SEIZE GIRL IN DARING DANCE AT STAG PARTY

Three Men and Hub Miss Accused of Taking Part in Improper Show

Trying to dismiss charges against seven persons of something out of the ordinary in the way of a stag party in East Boston, Dorothy Dumont, 22, of Revere beach, testified in the municipal court today that she was not the same girl who was arrested in Maple Hall, East Boston, last November night, according to the testimony of the men of the city's vice squad and agents of the Watch and Ward Society.

Miss Dumont was charged with dancing in extreme nudeness before a stag party of 100 men.

William H. Barber of Lexington street, East Boston, was charged with aiding the show. He is well known in local theatrical circles. William Murray of Whitman street, Malden, was charged, like Miss Dumont, with appearing in the show, though "Billy" didn't do the same kind of an act.

William A. Murphy of Trenton street, another well-known local performer, also was charged with taking part in the show.

The quartet pleaded not guilty. The case was continued to January 5.

"If my dance can get by a high-brow Boston audience, I guess it ought to be good enough for the Watch and Ward Society. It was only an Egyptian shimmy and my costume was lots and lots more lace," explained Miss Dumont.

"I have used that same costume dozens of times when I played on a Tremont street theatre and no one objected. I don't see why the police had to pick on me. It's just like the Watch and Ward Society to grab my act.

"If they think they can ruin my career by having me arrested they are all wrong. It's not exactly the sort of publicity I want."

Miss Dumont said she has a dancing engagement tonight at the Bancroft in Providence at which more than a hundred business men will attend.

COAL CONFERENCE OFF, OPERATORS TOO BUSY

Scranton, Pa., Dec. 21 (A.P.)—There will be no meeting of anthracite miners and operators here today to discuss the strike situation. This was made known by Major W. W. Inglis, spokesman for the operators, who stated that the negotiating committee of the mine owners could not come here today, regardless of any new developments.

Major Inglis also declared that there would be no conference unless representatives of the 158,000 idle men disavowed their stand on the Pinchot peace proposal and agree to meet with the operators and discuss any or all plans tending toward a settlement.

Deed Wins Fortune

Rev. David S. Kidd Byrne, of Toronto, who has won $35,000,000 estate of Wellington G. Byrne, rich miner, whose daughter he rescued from Chicago slums. He is sold heir to the fortune. He took Byrne's name as part of the legacy.

HUNTER SHOT BY OWN GUN

While hunting in the Norwell woods, Frank Thibodeau, eighteen, of No. 81 Putnam street, East Weymouth, was seriously wounded when his rifle went off as he passed it into his automobile, preparatory to returning home.

The bullet passed under his ribs on the left side and lodged in his lung. His hunting companion, John Norting of Canterbury street, East Weymouth, put Thibodeau in the automobile and drove him to the Weymouth Hospital, where doctors said that although the bullet was small, of .22 calibre, Thibodeau's wound was serious because it entered the lung.

AMERICAN NEAR DEATH FROM CHINESE BOMB

Peking, Dec. 21 (I.N.S.)—Willard Beard, president of Paoding College, narrowly escaped injury today when a bomb was exploded not far from where he was standing. The incident marked the opening of a week's anti-Christian campaign by the Fukiaseen students' union.

COOLIDGE IN MERRY XMAS TO SCOUTS

Holds Up Value of Obedience, Unselfishness and Self-Control

Washington, Dec. 21 (A.P.)—President Coolidge, in a Christmas greeting today to boys and girls of the nation, pointed to the virtue of unselfishness, obedience and self-control.

The greeting, addressed "To the Boy Scouts, the Lone Scouts and the 4-H clubs," follows:

"It seems a short time ago that I was out in the midst of farm operations, helping get the crops in the farm, working in the hay and in the Springtime doing what most of you have before had an opportunity to see—making maple sugar.

"I did not have any chance to profit by joining a scout organization or a 4-H club. That chance ought to be a great help to the boys and girls of this present day. It brings them into association with each other in a way where they learn to think not only of themselves, but of other people. It teaches them to be unselfish. It trains them to obedience and gives them self-control.

"It is the boys and girls who work hard at home, who strive to make the best records when they go away from home, who are men and girls who stand well in toward the head of the class at school that will be called on to hold the important places in political and business life when they go out into the world.

"There is a time for play as well as a time for work. But even in play it is possible to cultivate the art of well-doing. Games are useful to train the eye, the hand and the muscle, and bring the body more completely under the control of the mind. When this is done instead of being a waste of time, play becomes a means of education.

"It is in all these ways that boys and girls are learning to be men and women, to be resourceful to their parents, to be patriots in their country and to be reverent to God. It is because of the great chance that American boys and girls have in all these directions that to them more than to the youth of any other country there should be a merry Christmas."

Morticians Convene

'NICKY' ARNSTEIN LEAVES JAIL TOMORROW

Leavenworth, Kan., Dec. 21 (A.P.)—Prison gates will swing open tomorrow for Jules "Nicky" Arnstein, one of the central figures in a $1,000,000 New York bond theft and husband of Fanny Brice. He will spend Christmas in Chicago with her and their two children.

Nicky was received at the Federal prison May 16, 1924, under a sentence of two years for conspiracy. Twenty-two days later he was admitted from the original sentence for good behavior. EVERETT BRIBE CASES GIVEN TO JURY

Characterized by Assistant District Attorney Bushnell as "rather manic holdup men, armed with the authority of their offices and taking no physical risk like ordinary holdup men," the cases of William C. Gunnerson and Frederick J. Chisholm, Everett alderman charged with being bribe solicitors, was given the jury today in Middlesex Superior Court before Judge Flynn.

Both men are charged with soliciting bribes in connection with the erection of garages, Chisholm in three counts and Gunnerson on two.

Chisholm, the first witness today, denied that he had ever talked to Samuel Cohen, one of the garage proprietors, about a new garage. He stated that he was sick in his house on the day it is alleged the bribe talk was made. His wife followed him on the stand and verified his statements.

Character testimonials were given for Chisholm by Mortimer Upton Everett lumber dealer; Thomas W. Irwin, treasurer of the Everett Trust Company, and several others.

GAS EXPLOSION ROCKS HOUSES IN ROXBURY

With a resounding roar and flashes of flame, gas exploded today in an excavation in the street at Blue Hill avenue and Gaston street, Roxbury.

Three manhole covers were blown high into the air, some distance from the scene of the explosion, a section of pipe was blown up out of the excavation and escaping gas for a time ravaged the neighborhood.

Windows were shattered in several homes, the most seriously damaged being the pharmacy of Noah Kolodny at No. 357 Blue Hill avenue, in which the walls were damaged when the building rocked and buffeted in the explosion.

Flame followed the first burst of flame that Kolodny saw spit out of the street and the fire department was summoned. The first explosion, which was followed by a series of lesser ones, caused excitement in the neighborhood for several blocks.

Kolodny, who lives above his store, ran downstairs and found the pharmacy filled with gas fumes. Four kittens that had been left to sleep in the store were dead. The poke in the cellar of the store were damaged, according to Kolodny.

HOLD BOY WHO TRIED SUICIDE

After a night in a cell, where he attempted to hang himself, seventeen-year-old Arnold Verdi of Ashland street, Medford, went into Malden Court today and pleaded not guilty to driving an automobile without registration or license, and to stealing the machine of Mayor Devir of Malden.

Judge Bruce continued the youth's case until December 28, and released him in $1000 on the license charge and in $1,000 on the alleged theft.

Young Verdi, who, the police say, made the fourth man to drive off Mayor Devir's automobile, was arrested in the machine, but a girl who was with him was allowed to go.

Shortly after being placed in a police cell, the youth was found hanging in the cell, unconscious. He had improvised a noose from his necktie.

BLAST KILLS 4 ROXBURY PETS

An explosion of gas today rocked the neighborhood around Blue Hill avenue and Gaston street. When Noah Kolodny rushed into his drugstore to see what had happened he found his pet kittens dead from the fumes that had filled the place.

DR. BOTTOMLEY LAID AT REST

Solemn and impressive services marked the funeral today of Dr. John T. Bottomley at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross. Cardinal O'Connell presided at the solemn requiem mass celebrated by the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Richard J. Haberlin, secretary to the Cardinal and Chancellor of the Archdiocese. Governor Fuller and Mrs. Fuller, Mayor Curley and Mrs. Curley and former Senator David I. Walsh attended. Interment was at St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Hundreds of physicians and surgeons, as well as nurses of the Carney Hospital, and business and professional men were in the congregation that filled the Cathedral to its capacity.

Cardinal O'Connell pronounced the final absolution. The Rt. Rev. Mgr. M. J. Splaine, D.D., LL.D., of St. Joseph's Roxbury, and the Rt. Rev. Mgr. John R. Peterson, D.D., rector of St. John's Seminary, Brighton, were the deacons of honor to the Cardinal.

The Rev. M. J. Owens, pastor of St. John the Baptist Church, Quincy, was the deacon of the mass, and the Rev. William A. Davey of the Cathedral the subdeacon. The Rev. Harry M. O'Connor of the Cathedral was the master of ceremonies.

More than fifty priests from various parishes in the archdiocese had seats within the sanctuary. Among them were the Rt. Rev. Mgr. P. J. Supple, D. D., pastor of St. John's Church, Roxbury, the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Joseph F. McGlinchey, D. D., director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, the Very Rev. Joseph S. Tenard, S. J., president of Holy Cross College, Worcester and the Rev. George A. Keelan, S. J., of Boston College.

Mgr. Splaine delivered an eloquent eulogy on the life and activities of the dead surgeon. "It was in the generous donation of his services to the poor that the name of Dr. Bottomley will be most gratefully remembered," he said.

BELLMAKER FOR 75 YEARS, OBSERVES 87TH BIRTHDAY

Easthampton, Ct., Dec. 21 (A.P.)—Luther H. G. Goff, who believes he is the oldest bell maker in the country, having worked for one firm for 75 years, today received congratulations on his 87th birthday. On New Years Day Mr. and Mrs. Goff will attain the 66th anniversary of their marriage.

9 AT B. U. MAKE HEARST TEAM

The names of the men were announced today by Captain Arnold Funk, commander of the Boston University R. O. T. C. unit, as survivors in the competition for places on the five-man team which will represent the school in the matches in the fourth annual William Randolph Hearst trophy shoot.

The nine survivors are: Robert R. Wrigley, Elson Blunt, Lester Lindsley, Bernard Marvin, Bernard Hollins, Nelson Ambrose, John Dvorsky, Frank Linehan, William Ballard. These men are scheduled to practice four days every week in preparation for the competition.

Nearly four hundred universities, high schools, preparatory schools and military academies are entered in the matches, the number of entrants being twice as many as last year. Massachusetts Institute of Technology will also be represented.

The annual competition has been endorsed by Major General Hines, chief of staff, and Major General Foreman, commander of the Thirty-third Division, and leader of a combat regiment in France during the World War.

INDIAN FIGHTING 'ROUGH RIDER' FOUND SLAIN

Miami, Ariz., Dec. 21.—Sobriel Henderson, sixty-eight, Indian fighter and member of Roosevelt's Rough Riders, who frequently corresponded with the late President, was found slain today beside the highway near here. Both legs were broken and his head split.

More than sixty relatives of Henderson formed a posse and are searching for the slayer.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Marjorie Church and John McKnight to Give Musicale in Beacon Street House

QUITE ONE OF THE MOST NOTABLE OF Christmas-tide entertainments is a musicale with Miss Marjorie Church, pianist, and John McKnight, flutist, and the Frank H. Beebe house on Beacon street, just across from the Garden, as a setting. Miss Church, younger light of the local musical set, appears frequently at musicales or chamber concerts.

YOUNG MR. McKNIGHT, WITH much talent as a flutist and scores of friends and admirers besides, carries a double halo, also being the son of the painter, Dodge McKnight, who needs no introduction to Boston's aristocracy of the arts and letters.

THE PRESENCE IN TOWN, or rather in Cambridge, of Mrs. Frederick S. Coolidge, is delighting the musical sets and those of her intimates who do her honors on her all-too-infrequent Boston visits. Mrs. Coolidge has been abroad, in Paris and London for a major part of the year.

IN THE WORLD of music and musicians Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge is a name to conjure with, as founder of the famous Berkshire Music Festival at her estate temple on South Mountain, and as donor of an auditorium in Washington for the performance of chamber music.

MRS. COOLIDGE IS HERSELF a gifted musician, and her annual concerts out in Pittsfield, with world-celebrated artists as guests and performers, occupy a niche quite all their own in concert annals. The woodland setting, on South Mountain, is of course incomparable.

NO RETURNING HONEYMOONERS will receive a more hearty welcome than Mr. and Mrs. Henry P. Upham Harris, who sailed for these shores last Wednesday after some months of leisurely wandering about Europe, following a brilliant Autumn wedding.

AS POLLY WEBSTER, daughter of the Edwin Shipley Websters, the youthful Mrs. Harris was an outstanding figure in the Young Set, honored by her mates of the Junior League and queening it generally.

Interstate Photo

MISS JULIET GREENE, a prominent member of the Town's Younger Set who came out last year.

THE HARRIS MENAGE will be set up in Gotham (much to the regret of youthful Fashionables of Boston) after an interlude of Christmas jollification with the Websters, or more, who are entertaining at their country place over the holidays.

OFF FOR A WHIRL of country life and Winter sports at Poland Springs is Miss Evatt, debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Evatt, before she parts for a charming bud trousseau and departs for Baltimore as the house guest of Miss Virginia Watts of the Monumental City.

MISS WATTS IS TO HAVE her formal presentation on the list, a dance at the Baltimore Country Club, and Miss Evatt goes down to assist at the joyous function, just as Miss Watts came to Boston to be Miss Evatt's guest at her coming out.

FESTIVITIES FOR HER there have been in abundance, her presentation tea followed by a dinner and theatre party, with just last week a dance at the Longwood Cricket Club. For this affair Miss Evatt wore a frock of moire taffeta following portrait lines and Mrs. Evatt was in silver beaded metal cloth.

ALL THE WORLD AND his wife, it seems, is taking the road to the Museum of Fine Arts, to view and admire that stupendous memorial exhibition of John Singer Sargent works. The painter's admirers are legion, and there's a record-breaking daily attendance at the stately Museum in the Fenway.

THEY COME BY THE HUNDREDS, these visitors from everywhere, and even the all-absorbing Christmas joys and duties have no effect on the numbers, which grow daily as the last date for the exhibition (December 27) approaches.

NATURALLY, BOSTON'S haute monde gives homage before the portrait, by Sargent, of that much beloved and admired matron, the late Mrs. James Lawrence. She held a warm place in many hearts, those of her own circle and family and those less fortunate ones to whom she was the Lady Bountiful.

THE PORTRAIT IS LENT by Mrs. Lawrence's daughter, Mrs. Nathaniel F. Emmons who was Elizabeth Lawrence. Mrs. Emmons, by the way, is keeping open house at Christmas, and there'll be feasting, music and dancing at her beautifully appointed colonial home down in Hingham.

FROM HAMILTON TO AIKEN, S. C., twenty equine thoroughbreds and a retinue of attendants take their almost royal way carrying with them the high hopes of sundry Myopians for the future success of steeplechasing as a lively sport for local indulgence.

THESE TWENTY BLUEBLOODS of the horse world belong to various smart sportsmen and women—Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Jr., Mrs. Albert C. Burrage, Mrs. Robert Lindley Jandelson, Henry de Vaughan, Reginald W. Hurd, Miss Mary Weld, Miss Eleonora Sears, Frederick H. Prince and others of their ilk.

ITS EVEN RUMORED that a revival of the famous old country club races is on the smart tapis, and if such is the case it's joyous news indeed. The Country Club races were a classic in their day, with society out in force to see and to wish.

Betty Alden

AFTER A WINTER of training in that smart southern spa under the eyes of experts, these to another royal progress north Northward to these horses, to take part in various Spring and Summer meets and to inaugurate propitious, rather than the usual steeplechasing.

METHODIST MINISTERS COMMEND RABBI WISE

Philadelphia, Dec. 21 (A.P.)—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, of New York, was commended at the weekly meeting today of Methodist Episcopal ministers for his declaration of acceptance of Jesus Christ, not as a myth but as a man. The commendation was in the form of a motion, and a suitable communication will be sent to Dr. Wise. One clergyman disapproved on the ground that the rabbi did not accept as true the Divinity of Christ, but nearly gave approval of his teachings. This brought forth the response from another minister that "there is no need to go back to the beginning of time in order to split theological hairs."

3 SHIFTS SPEED WORK ON FORD SOMERVILLE PLANT

Three shifts of workers are being employed to speed construction at the big $4,000,000 assembling plant of the Ford Motor Company at Somerville. The foundations have been completed and some of the steel structure erected. It is expected the plant will be ready for opening in the Spring.

WIFE WILL SPEND XMAS WITH SKIPPER AT SEA

After the British steamer River Orontes completes loading her cargo at East Boston today she will sail for London. Included in the freight are 2,000 hogsheads of Virginia tobacco. Following discharge at London she will go into drydock for her No. 3 survey, which means every bolt, plate and rivet in her hull will be tested. When she sails from East Boston Mrs. H. H. Woodrow, wife of the captain, will be aboard. She crossed the Atlantic so that she could spend Christmas with him at sea.

WEEI TO BROADCAST REAL LIFE ROMANCE

A business story, romantic, interesting and true, is to be broadcast in brief, snappy installments by station WEEI.

In Boston there is a great department store which shortly will observe its 75th anniversary. Threads in the history of that store will form an inspiring story called "Retail and Romance," the log of the good ship "Jordan Marsh," and a 19-year-old Maine lad, Ellen Dyke Jordan, who with $1.25 in his pocket laid the foundation of the present Jordan Marsh Company. The story is in six installments, the first to be given this evening at 8 o'clock.

ASKS FEDERAL FILM CENSOR COMMISSION

Washington, Dec. 21 (A.N.S.)—A federal motion picture commission to censor all moving pictures flowering those approved and banning those disapproved would be created in a bill introduced today by Representative Upshaw, of Georgia.

The commission would consist of six members with the federal commission of education as chairman. Members would be appointed after examination by the United States civil service commission. Two of them would be women.

50-CENT GOOSE DETHRONES 'TURK' AT 75

Public Favor Swings to Lower-Priced Bird for the Xmas Table

The goose doesn't hang so high in the Faneuil Hall market. Selling at from forty-five to fifty cents per pound, they still take the time honored place of the famous Thanksgiving and Christmas bird in many Boston homes during the Yuletide season. For turkeys are retailing at seventy-five cents per pound. Even chunks of chopped products can not be had for less than fifty-five cents a pound.

Street lore understood in certain Southern regions to be the dressing for that sultry, midnight prowler, the "possum," are selling at $2.75 for baskets weighing forty pounds each. Prices quoted on fruit and nuts follow: Oranges 60 cents, grape fruit, large size, two and three for 25 cents, grapes 30 cents, apples 60 cents a dozen, and nuts, mixed or otherwise, 35 cents per pound. Celery can be bought for 35 cents, and cranberries, the turkey's closest competitor as a Christmas dish, outlasting even the hash following the holiday season, are selling at 20 cents a pound.

Christmas tree prices range from 65 cents to $100. There are many kinds of evergreen wreaths, princess pine, holly, mistletoe, and the ever-creeping jessicy, and mistletoe. These are adorned with pine cones and various artificial decorations, retailing for from 25 cents to $3.50 each. Due to the scarcity of pine cones, several paper substitutes are being used.

SANTA PARTY FOR HOSPITAL CHILDREN

Reindeer to Visit Little Shut-ins at Children's Hospital Today

[illegible] endeared little Isabella [illegible] a list of Green[illegible] north brought to them at [illegible]'s Hospital on Long[illegible] this morning, when Bill[illegible] Dasher, Dancer and Vix[illegible] Boston Evening Ameri[illegible] per cent Christmas[illegible]

When sleets straight from the [illegible] will be Santa Claus and [illegible] Mayakwok, their kindly Eskimo driver. Many of the kiddies will [illegible] in wraps and go with the [illegible] outyard to feel the thrill of seeing Santa, and letting the reindeer rub their noses in their hands.

The little invalids who will be unable to journey outdoors will watch the [illegible] from the windows on the second floor. It will be a great day for [illegible] and ever since the nurses told them that the very steeds who will [illegible] over their roofs on Christmas Eve would pay them a personal visit, the kiddies have been filled with glee and wonder.

Sadness filled the reindeer corral on the Common when one of the elderly steeds was taken suddenly sick. He was removed to the Angell Memorial Hospital and treated for lockjaw. The climate has been much too hot for Eskimos and his companions and they are longing for a terrific snow storm and blizzard to set their spirits right.

Children were not the only throng of visitors who visited the corral right at the main mall near Park square for hundreds of grown ups also were pressed against the high fence peering at the frozen-nosed North-erners.

Many of the little cripples at the Children's Hospital will spend their Christmas Day and were it not for the thought of having Santa Claus and the steeds visit them today they would be doubly sad, as there was such a thing in this world as Santa to bring cheer and happiness to children.

After every child has a chance to see both the reindeer the Eskimo lovers will take them back to their pens on Boston Common where several hundred more school children will visit them this afternoon.

The joy of Christmas giving

The joy of Christmas giving is, of course, the pleasure of giving to people the things they most desire. It is not always easy to know what will most please them; but, by a little extra effort, it is possible to be practically certain that your choice will fill a long felt want.

We can help you. We have been gift counsellors since our business was founded one hundred and twenty-five years ago. We have followed the tastes, styles and customs of every decade. We have studied the different types of people for whom gifts were selected.

In 1800 we suggested Christmas gifts of shoe buckles, snuff boxes, heavy gold watches that wound with a key, rat-tail spoons, and tea-caddies that locked. Fifty years later the popular selections were cameos; coral necklaces fashioned like roses; heavy earrings; reticules; and for the men, massive watch chains and diamond studs. In 1900 we showed diamonds in high Tiffany settings, belt buckles, jeweled barrettes, chatelaines and chatelaine watches.

In every department of our store you will find suggestions for equally timely Christmas gifts that we know will please today at the price you wish to pay.

GOLD RUSH DAYS AT OLYMPIA

A star cast, the directing talents of Frank Lloyd and a very good story of the early gold rush days have happily conspired in making a fine picture at "The Splendid Road" at the Olympia.

Mounted on a large scale and glowing with the life of that hectic period, it faithfully reproduces, in scenes and costumes, the historic events of the time and also tells an absorbingly interesting human story of the hardships of the first settlers in southern California, as they were called.

Anna Q. Nilsson is the pretty lone traveler who, as something of a lady D'Artagnan, quests for adventure in the new-found gold fields. Her romantic heart promises her to adopt three orphaned children and forego the gold rushing in favor of establishing a home for her "family," until Robert Fraser happens along as the "Sir Galahad" to lead the way along "the splendid road" to the hitting place of the gold.

Among the featured players of the cast are such well known names as Lionel Barrymore, Pauline Garon, De Witt Jennings, Gladys Brockwell and George Bancroft.

SPECIAL SHOW FOR NEWSBOYS

A rash individual approached a group of Boston Evening American newsboys in Winthrop square today and ventured the information that there is no Santa Claus.

Reports later from the Children's Relief Station said that the individual, cruelly reconsidered from a multiplicity of bruises and contusions.

For the wise youngsters that see the Boston Evening American there is a Santa Claus, and to-morrow given proof of it at the special show for newsboys in the Mat Isaac Relief auditorium.

Mat Isaac, the circulation manager, had told the youngsters that, of, 200 in actual count, would be the guests of the Evening American and the Metropolitan Theatre management at Boston's new pictorial theatre on Christmas morning. The announcement was issued with cheers, the truth of the Santa Claus theory was proved, and one rash individual whose an unfortunate comment to broadcast his intention.

The price of the show of the 200 will be given a special showing of "Merry Christmas," the Metropolitan's stellar production of the season, at 10 o'clock on Christmas morning. The facilities of the theatre speak for themselves and the place will be there by the time long.

A Real Life Serial of Love and Temptation in the Mad Whirl of Boston Business

READ THIS FIRST

FLOSSIE and MARY ROSE MIDDLETON are two pretty sisters, the daughters of a widowed mother. Both of them work for Dexter & Co., big Congress street bond firm.

Flossie helps to keep the flies under MISS MACFARLANE Mary Rose is secretary to the sales-manager, JOHN MANNERS, with whom she is in love. But Manners is engaged to DORIS HINIG, a girl of wealth.

Mary Rose discovers that Flossie is carrying on a flirtation with the head of the concern, HILARY DEXTER, a married man with grown daughters.

Flossie stays out until midnight two or three times a week with Dexter.

One night when Mary Rose and TOM FITZROY, a young doctor who wants to marry her, are out dining, they find Flossie desperately ill at Wayland Inn. With her are Alice James, Dexter, and an unknown man.

Next day Mary Rose points out that the girl always loses out in an affair with a married man, but Flossie tells her she can take care of herself. And the affair with Dexter goes merrily on.

Mary Rose does everything she can to break it up. She plans a picnic for the following Sunday, including their mother, Tom and SAM JESSUP, Mr. Dexter's secretary. Sam has long been in love with Flossie and feels that she is growing away from him because he's poor. Flossie tells Mary Rose she wishes MRS. MIDDLETON weren't going along on the picnic that mothers are such a bore

DX CONDITIONS LAST NIGHT

Another good night for radio. There was scarcely any static and plenty of stations were available. WHAZ in Baltimore came through loud on the 400 meter length, a little under WBBR on the dial. The short wave Chicago stations were also good. CFYC in Montreal came through louder than at any time so far this season. They were broadcasting an excellent orchestra. Some interference between certain ones bothered somewhat.

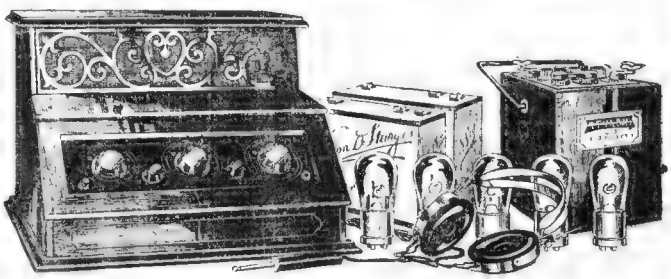
A Most Excellent Value



How it is possible for us to sell such a high-grade set at so low a price.

A manufacturer wished to keep his factory work at full time production. In order to assure this he made an interesting price concession proposition to us if we would buy a certain quantity.

The offer was so interesting we immediately closed the transaction. To see these sets is to appreciate their quality and beauty. We wish you to come in and judge for yourself.

"DO'S" AND "DON'T'S" OF TABLE ETIQUETTE

Isn't it surprising, no matter how carefully we have been brought up, how easily we fall into careless table manners. Sometimes I think we indulge in what are really table faux pas because we are so secure in our knowledge that we do know better. However, we never know who may be observing us, so these little slips can make a lasting impression we may regret on the little folks.

I know that the subject of etiquette is one that many interests mothers who wish to have life's simple courtesies sharp and woof of their children's habits. They know that good manners are the marks of good breeding—a smooth their children's social and business paths. So from time to time I think that we will have little etiquette talks on this page, and today I am going to touch on a few of the simple fundamentals of table etiquette. I am sure that all of us are familiar with these, but it is so easy to get into careless habits.

First let's consider the bouillon cup. There seems doubt in the minds of many whether the bouillon should be taken from the spoon or from the cup. The spoon may be used a few times and then it is entirely correct to raise the cup by one handle and drink from it.

The proper way to eat fruit is another subject on which there seems to be doubt. All raw fruit, except melons, berries, grapefruit, and possibly bananas, are eaten from the fingers. Grapes should be eaten one at a time, the seeds pressed back into the skin and both laid aside as inconspicuously as possible. White grapes with a firm pulp can be cut and seeds removed on the plate. A banana may be peeled from the top down, cut into small pieces and eaten with a fork, or broken into small pieces and eaten with the fingers. Apples should be pared, cut into quarters and eighths and eaten from the fingers or with a fork.

Bread should be placed in the bread and butter plate if one is provided, if not, a hard roll or French bread may be placed on the cloth. Bread should be broken into small pieces, each piece buttered individually.

Large soft cakes are eaten with a fork; in the case of small cakes small pieces are broken off and eaten from the fingers.

Hard cheese may be eaten from the fingers; soft cheese is spread on a small bit of bread or bit of cracker with a knife.

Lettuce, of course, should never be cut, but broken with a fork.

If marmalade is passed, it is placed upon the bread and butter plate.

Napkins are not spread out table cloth fashion, but half opened and laid across the lap, fold toward you. Of course, a guest does not refold his napkin unless he is remaining a few days. When fresh fruit is served, a small fruit napkin is passed with it and when no longer needed is laid beside his fruit plate. If your hostess asks you which

RECIPE NO. 1894—BROWN SUGAR PENUCHE

3 tablespoons butter
3 cups brown sugar
1 cup white sugar
1 cup thin cream
Few grains soda
1 heaping tablespoon marshmallow cream
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup coarsely chopped nut meats

Melt butter, add brown sugar, cream and soda. Stir until sugar is dissolved, then let mixture boil until candy will form a soft ball in water. Stir occasionally to prevent burning. Remove from fire, add marshmallow cream, vanilla and nuts. Pour into greased enamelled tray or cake pan. When cool add salt and beat with a fork until creamy. When firm enough, pour into the pan and when cold cut into squares. If shredded cocoanut may be added, use only half the amount of nuts.

Mrs. A. P. N., of Arlington, writes: "I am having company for dinner for a man who is very fond of Spanish dishes. Would like a Tomato Surprise salad. I have tried it before and like it very much, but it is rather expensive now, and the hot house tomatoes are not very satisfactory. You can stuff them with celery, cucumber, cabbage, etc., mixed with mayonnaise. Also, I would like to know how to make French fried potatoes. Also, what can be done with chopped celery and apples? They make a nice filling for sandwiches with chicken or lean roast pork. Perhaps you would prefer creamed celery and apples on lettuce with mayonnaise."

Home-made Remedy Stops Cough Quickly

Finest cough medicine you ever used. Family supply easily made. Saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for coughs is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few minutes. It's cheap, but for quick results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops dry, hard, raspy coughs in 24 hours. Instantly relieves throat tickle.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, then fill up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use honey instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

Mixed this way, there is nothing better to be had. It keeps perfect to the end and never spoils. Tastes pleasant. Instantly relieves the throat and stops the tickle. Has a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes and stopping the cough. Also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and whooping cough.

The Pinex and Sugar Syrup recipe is used in millions of homes throughout the United States and Canada. Many people say it is the best cough mixture they ever tried.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in guaiacol and is well known for its prompt action in relieving coughs, chronic coughs, bronchitis and other throat troubles.

To prevent disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

DAILY SHORT STORY

Felt At Ease

Lifted Her Out

Gently lifting her from her silk encasings he laid her tenderly upon the divan, and, after opening a window, brought a glass of cold water which he tried to force through her clenched teeth. Failing in this, he shook some gently from his finger tips upon her face, with as results

Then went to the phone to summon professional aid

Hearing the number of a doctor of his acquaintance he turned to a chair, completely

To his surprise, he noted a slight movement

opening and her lips were moments more she sat bolt upright

Seeing only unsympathetic look at her surroundings she sprang to her feet, snatched up the paper knife and flew to a corner of the room

A terrified look came into her eyes. Undoubtedly the spectacle of this explaining pink and white man with large round eyes was too much for the girl

The doctor had answered by this time and was frantically repeating "Hello, hello, hello," into the phone, to no avail, for Walter had dropped the receiver. He went slowly toward the girl, but stopped when she emitted an agonized shriek. It seemed almost incredible to Walter that such a noise could come from so small an entity. He made signs to her intended to convey the information that he would not harm her, but she seemed to construe them as a sign that she was to expect an

ELLA CINDERS

A Sad, Sad Story

By BILL CONSELMAN and CHARLIE PLUMB

LIFE IS JUST ONE LEFT-HAND TURN AFTER ANOTHER! ONLY YESTERDAY, IT SEEMS, OUR LITTLE ELLA DREAMED AMID THE DRUDGERY OF HER KITCHEN!
THEN WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF LADY LUCK SHE ACCIDENTALLY WON A BEAUTY CONTEST AND STARTED FOR THE FABLED FAIRYLAND OF HOLLYWOOD TO CLAIM A PROMISED ROLE IN THE MOVIES. BUT SHE FOUND THAT THE MOVIE COMPANY HAD DECAMPED. SO, ALONE, FRIENDLESS, PENNILESS, RAGGED, SHE STARTED THE LONG CLIMB UP THE ROCKY HILL THAT LEADS TO SUCCESS ON THE SILVER SHEET.
JUST WHEN THE SUN OF HOPE SEEMED ECLIPSED, SHE FOUND HER FATHER, WHO HAD BEEN MISSING FOR SEVERAL YEARS. HE HAD CHANGED HIS NAME AND BECOME A PROMINENT FILM PRODUCER. EAGER TO MAKE AMENDS TO HIS DAUGHTER, HE PROMISED TO MAKE HER A STAR OF STARS IN MOTION PICTURES. BUT THEY RECKONED WITHOUT O. WATTERS NEEK, THE MEANEST VILLAIN THAT EVER CRACKED A SNEER. HE DERAILED ELLA'S FAST TRAIN TO SUCCESS AND HER DAD'S HAPPINESS BY ACQUAINTING ELLA'S STEPMOTHER AND HER DAUGHTERS, LOTTA AND PRISSIE, WITH MR. CINDERS' WHEREABOUTS. LIKE BUZZARDS, THEY DESCENDED ON THE HOLLYWOOD TO BATTEN ON THEIR RELATIVES' SUCCESS, AND THE STEPMOTHER'S TONGUE AND TEMPER DROVE MR. CINDERS AWAY AGAIN. ALSO BROKE UP HIS BUSINESS BY COMPELLING HIM TO ATTEMPT TO STAR HER DAUGHTER LOTTA ON THE SCREEN. ELLA IS LEFT PENNILESS AND HIS CREDITORS HAVE TAKEN BACK ALL THE PRETTY THINGS HE BOUGHT FOR HER AND HADN'T GOTTEN AROUND TO PAYING FOR.
THEN THE STUDIO CLOSED, AND ELLA IS RIGHT BACK WHERE SHE STARTED FROM. BUT SHE HAS TWO FRIENDS AT LEAST—
WAITE LIFTER, HER ICEMAN SUITOR, WHO FOLLOWED HER TO CALIFORNIA, AND MRS. BEVENS, A LITTLE OLD LADY ELLA ONCE BEFRIENDED, NOT TO MENTION CYRIL SWEETE, THE MOVIE ACTOR WHO WOULD FACE A GRIZZLY BEAR WITH A POP-GUN TO WIN ELLA'S HAND, AND BLACKIE, HER LITTLE BROTHER AND PAL.

FOXY GRANDPA'S BEDTIME STORY

By Foxy Grandpa

"DOT—dash" repeated Bobby and tapped the table with his pencil.

"What's that, Bobby?" I asked. "The Morse code?"

"Yes, sir," replied the boy, "all the boys in the Scouts are learning it."

"That's a good thing to know," I said.

"Why is it called the Morse code, Foxy Grandpa?" asked Bobby laying down his pencil.

"After a man named Morse," I answered. Morse was the man who invented the telegraph in America and it was he who invented the Morse code which you are learning right now."

"Tell me about him, Foxy Grandpa," said Bobby, and came over and sat on the arm of my chair.

I lay down my paper and started:

"S. F. B. Morse was a New Englander. If I remember rightly, he was born up in Charlestown, Massachusetts, at the end of the eighteenth century—say about seventeen-ninety.

"Morse was a very clever young man and gifted in art. He was a sculptor and a painter. And when he was about twenty years old he went to England to study art.

"Now, in England the telegraph was being worked upon and two great men were experimenting on it. Morse had heard about this wonderful thing and was much interested.

"Coming home from France once where he had called from Havre, Morse met a gentleman on the ship by the name of Dr. Jackson.

"Now Dr. Jackson was interested in the telegraph, too, and the two men used to sit on deck and talk about it.

"As it happened, Dr. Jackson had a galvanic battery and an electro-magnet with him. But they were in his trunk down deep in the hold of the ship, so he couldn't get at them. But he drew sketches for the artist and they discussed it.

"When Morse got back to America he thought and thought about this wonderful thing of sending messages over a wire and he set out to work it out.

"This he did successfully. But when Jackson heard about it he was furious and said he had a claim on the invention, which was not really fair.

"Jackson went to law about this but did not win his case. It was decided that Morse deserved all credit for the invention.

"This all happened in 1835. And in 1844 a message was sent from Baltimore to Washington and from then on the telegraph has been used all over the world."

"And did Morse make up his alphabet then, too, Foxy Grandpa?" asked Bobby.

"He did," I replied, "and that was as valuable a service to the world as inventing the instrument itself."

"I wonder how he ever thought of it," mused Bobby. "I think it's hard enough to learn."

"Morse was a great man, Bobby, and I think it is a wonderful thing to have his name preserved by naming the code after him."

"Just like the call radio messages Marconigrams," said the boy.

"Yes," I said. "Marconi's name will live, too."

"I wonder what Morse would think of that?" said Bobby, sliding down from the arm of my chair and tapping his dot-dash on the table.

DR. REED'S SECRETS OF HEALTH

By Charles A. L. Reed, M. D.
Former President American Medical Association

IS YOUR child, boy or girl, of school age and in attendance upon regular institution whether under a tutor or in a public or private school?

I ask this question because it leads to a consideration of factors and influences that have to do with the mental health of the pupil concerned.

Is your child unduly fatigued in the evening? Are his or her eyes attractive, bright or else dull, lusterless or antagonistic or unduly depressed over the general school experience?

These are really very practical questions that call for your attention and co-operation.

The presence of extreme fatigue in your child may mean any one of several things. He may be playing too hard and thereby exhausting himself in a purely physical way. Play is the most normal stimulus of child life. But, like every other stimulus, it may be seriously overdone. Play, up to the point of fatigue, is perfectly normal under normal conditions, but play beyond the point of fatigue, even under otherwise normal conditions, is harmful.

The child that plays vigorously during recess, or the noon hour, if otherwise well, should come back to his books refreshed with the exercise. If he is not refreshed but looks pale, breathes deeply and rapidly and becomes listless, the exercise has been excessive and he cannot be expected to study with any degree of effectiveness.

The amount of exercise that produces exhilaration at one time may produce depression at another time. The difference will have been determined, in all probability, by the mental physical state of the child. Has he been constipated? Has his digestion been out of fix? Is he just coming down with a bad cold? Has he had a recent sunstroke? Has he some defective eyesight?

An affirmative answer to any of these questions would indicate that the child's nervous system is poised, that he is "edgy" and that his nervous system and digestive system especially the processes of the heart, are weakened. This means that he has not the endurance of which he is capable under not too taxing.

The last paragraph will indicate why a child should be given a few days after the passing of the cold, or any of the other conditions mentioned, to which I have called attention before resuming the activities of either the playground, the gymnasium or the schoolroom.

There is, however, a more distinct physical danger lurking in the background of these cases, and that is the occasional dilatation of the heart from overexertion in the first brief period of convalescence from acute infectious diseases.

It is to be remembered, further, that even in the absence of infectious or other diseases, overplaying is a menace to the physical health and mental optimism of many pupils.

COOK-COOS by Ted Cook

WAITERS and waitresses will wash their hands after serving each patron, if New York enacts an ordinance now under consideration.

Judging from the time it takes to get service in the average cafe, waiters and waitresses have time to take a bath after serving each patron.

From an educational standpoint, why not have waiters and waitresses read a menu after serving each patron?

This would give waiters a chance to learn English.

Or maybe it would be more pleasing to the waiters to pass an ordinance permitting them to play a round of golf between courses.

* * *

At that, why shouldn't they wash their hands after serving each patron.

BOSTON STOCK EXCHANGE ADDS 3 MEMBERS

By FRANK H. MELOON,
Financial Editor.

Boston Stock Exchange has three new members with Richard M. F. Cahill, Edmund R. Haynes and James G. O'Donnell formally elected today. Mr. Cahill buys the seat formerly held by the estate of Frederick W. Barker. The memberships held by the estates of Dean Pierce and Irving W. O'Malley have been transferred to James R. Hooper and Edmund R. Haynes respectively. These seats sold at $8,600 each, compared with previous prices of $7,000 and one of $5,000 in August.

Further publicity was effectively used in one straight advertising page in News Bureau during the past Summer. It was modeled along the lines adopted by the English railroads which are told that the Boston Athenaeum will have an exhibition of the English railroad posters next Spring, many of them by famous artists. The list includes Western Railway, London, Midland & Scottish Railway, London & Northwestern Railway and others will contribute posters. Boston Athenaeum thinks that the New Haven's very excellent posters ought to be shown alongside them but the ever conservative Athenaeum attorneys

It is not generally known that the Boston Athenaeum's stock is rather frequently traded in on the Boston stock auctions. The stock carries the privilege of Athenaeum membership, but is naturally not among the major issues, as only 500 shares are reckoned in the financial dis trict. Many people know of course, that the Athenaeum has one of the world's largest private libraries, a veritable gem in the diadem of our "modern Athens."

Jonathan Story, Boston representative of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, tells me that this is the period when the spirit of the Christmas season is decorating club, department and lounging cars with Yuletide flavor and that Santa Claus has wreaths at the car windows. Passenger Traffic Manager P. B. Eustis has released instructions that patrons special Christmas souvenir menus, and seasonal greetings will be presented dinner on Christmas Eve and Christmas Day.

Christmas letters to the Boston Evening American are divided into two groups.

In the first group are the letters from poor mothers, poor fathers, poor children, asking to be remembered on the natal day of the Babe of Bethlehem.

There are MANY of THESE letters.

The second group is made up of letters from Good Fellows, asking this newspaper's Good Fellow to send them the names of some of these brothers and sisters in need.

Of THESE letters there are NOT so many.

Here are four specimen letters from Group Number One:

Dear Good Fellow:—My little cousin Ted is writing for me, as I can't write yet. We never had anything last Christmas, papa wasn't working. He is a World War veteran and was wounded and can't work much. Please try and not forget little Antoinette, who has also two little brothers, 6 months and 2 years old.

(Signed) ANTOINETTE.

Dear Good Fellow:—My husband has been laid up for fourteen months with two fractures on his right leg and he is still in a cast. I have two boys, 9 and 11 years old, and anything I could get for them would be appreciated. (Signed) MRS. J. S.

Dear Good Fellow:—I am writing asking you if you will send my children some clothes and toys. I am the mother of eight, my oldest is 16, a girl, and my baby is 18 months. He needs clothes and shoes. I have four other boys, 14-12-9-5 years. The others, two girls, are 13-3 years.

My husband isn't working steady and also his health is poor, since he met with an accident two years ago. His shoulder was broke and double fracture of the hips. He cannot do very hard work, but is glad to do anything. He is a very devoted father to his children and it makes him feel so bad to think he can't do more for them. My little girl, 3 years old, has never been well since she was born. She has been in three hospitals, but they cannot do anything for her and it is very hard. I know she would love to have some toys or a doll.

The boys need shoes this cold weather and I know it will be a very blue Christmas for the children if you don't answer my appeal as we cannot give them any Christmas we are in such poor circumstances. I hope you will send make them happy on the joyful day, Christmas.

(Signed) MRS. D. N.

Dear Good Fellow:—My father is dead and we are four in family. My mother works and makes $15 a week and we really have nothing left. My father was an Overseas Veteran and I hope you will remember us this Christmas. (Signed) F.

There are hundreds of letters here like these, and there is URGENT need for letters of the other sort, the "Good Fellow" letters, to go into Group Number Two.

These Good Fellow letters read like this:

GOOD FELLOW EDITOR,
No. 5 Winthrop Square, Boston.

Please send me the names and addresses of ..... families in need of Christmas comfort in my part of Greater Boston or New England.

My name.....

My address.....

To all who will fill out and send in the above form without delay, Mr. Good Fellow and the Boston Evening American promise the merriest Christmas and the happiest New Year ever.

Money End of Boy Athletics

A High School With $15,000 in Its Strong-Box

Men who can remember when a favorite method of raising funds for the equipment of a high school baseball team was to pester the local merchants with subscription lists, headed, "We, the undersigned, pledge ourselves to give the amounts set opposite our names, etc.," find it hard to comprehend the change that has come about in the financial aspect of school athletics.

The Peabody High School football team came home from Haverhill only a few weks ago with $1,007 in cash, representing about 40 per cent. of a "gate" of $3,313.

Now, we have the report of the athletic council of the high school at Manchester, N. H., whose footballists have gone through several years unbeaten. On July 1, this year, the M. H. S. council had $6,092.25 in the Amoskeag Savings Bank. Since that day, the athletes have garnered $17,618.20 more. Expenses, it is true, have devoured $9,830.26—enough to float a New England League team when "Pocohontas" Smith was finding Christy Mathewsons—but the season closes with $13,880.19 in the strong-box.

Does the emphasis which nowadays is placed on the "money end" explain our "Red" Granges?

Does it throw any light on the reaction of our high school athletes to the suggestion that there's a job to be had at ten dollars a week, in Hodge's store?

DON'T ask Dad, especially if he can remember when the question of uniforms depended almost entirely upon the success of the "subscription paper."

War With Japan?

It will probably not happen at least for a generation.

In the first place Japan is too poor. She is dependent for her existence upon her foreign trade, and that is mostly with the United States.

Japan would like to make trouble over our immigration restriction, but on this the attitude of Great Britain's colonies in New Zealand, South Africa and Australia is similar to our own.

But our leaders must never forget that, although Americans do not think war or talk war and mostly detest war, Japan believes in war.

She has been in three great wars in a generation and has profited by all of them. And having defeated Russia—then a great but corrupt giant—she has unbounded confidence in herself.

LIGHT DEVIATED BY EARTH'S MOTION

By Garrett P. Serviss

Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

IN a recent article, in reply to a question about the effect of the earth's motion upon the apparent position of the sun, the phenomenon of aberration was briefly discussed. But a reader in De Witt, Nebraska, thinks that if we consider the sun as stationary, the earth's motion around it "cannot produce any deception as to the sun's position."

This misunderstanding may possibly arise from the fact that in the majority of books on astronomy, even school books, aberration is explained only with reference to the stars, as that the resulting slight displacement does not affect celestial bodies, including the sun.

A Variation

In fact, the stars' apparent place is always over 20 seconds of arc behind its true place, because of the eight minutes it is found that the light takes to reach the earth.

To explain this let me use a slight modification of an illustration of aberration employed by Sir John Herschel.

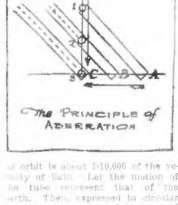
In the figure suppose a ball drop, as from A to C, in a vertical row, straight toward the point C in the horizontal plane A, B, C, in the same time let an open tube move along the plane from A through B to C, as indicated by the horizontal arrow. Let the motion of the tube be so adjusted as that of the ball, that, while its inclination remains unchanged, the bottom of the tube is carried forward from A to B while the ball is falling from 1 to 3.

The open end of the tube arrives at 1 at the same time that the ball gets there. The ball then strikes the tube, and in consequence of the combination of the two simultaneous motions, it passes down the centre of the moving tube as if its actual motion were in the direction of the dotted line.

At 2, or 3, the ball and the bottom of the tube arrive together, and to an observer placed at the bottom of the tube and carried with it from A through B to C, the ball would seem to have come along the sloping dotted line through the axis of the tube, instead of straight up vertically along the vertical line. Now, this is aberration, and it affects the direction in which light seems to come from the sun or the stars just as it affects the apparent direction of the ball's motion in our illustration.

It is evident that the inclination of the tube must be proportional to the relative velocity of the ball and the tube. The faster the ball falls, if the tube's motion remains unchanged, the more nearly vertical must the tube stand.

Now, the velocity of the earth in its orbit is about 1-10,000 of the velocity of light. Let the motion of the tube represent that of the earth. Then, expressed in circular measure, the 1-10000 becomes 20.5 seconds of arc, which is the aberration angle of light. (Remember we are using round numbers).



Precise Figures

Light takes about 8 minutes and 16 seconds to come from the sun to the earth; therefore when it reaches the earth it shows the sun apparently in the direction that it had 8 minutes and 20 seconds before.

The result is that the apparent longitude of the sun at noon in its actual longitude at 11 hours, 31 minutes, 40 seconds a. m. Now, the sun describes 360 degrees of longitude in 365¼ days, which amounts to about 2.46 seconds of arc in a minute, and to 20.50 seconds of arc in 8 minutes and 20 seconds, thus corresponding with the aberration angle, when precise figures are used.

ON "TELL-TALE LINES"

When CARE puts LINES
In a WOMAN'S FACE
SOME women DON'T CARE
THESE either have
CHARACTER,
Or they have just
LET GO.
But BEAUTIFUL women
Still in the spotlight
Of life
DO CARE and they Do THEIR BEST to ERASE the wrinkles
TIME deals JUSTLY with
ALL WOMEN.

For the lines MOST Women WANT to have
MASSAGED AWAY are
The TELL-TALE lines of
Their GOOD TIMES.
And oh! WHAT A TIME
They have DOING IT.
Yet, after all, WHY
Should women CARE
SO MUCH?
LINES mean CHARACTER.
And CAN BE beautiful.
For of WHAT INTEREST is A LEAF without
ITS VEINS?

LISTEN, WORLD!

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Elsie Robinson

HELEN and Mart have a grudge against the twentieth century. They've decided that Real Merit is never appreciated any more. Which sounds as if Helen and Mart were holdovers from the days of good Queen Vic. They're not. They are both young—nineteen and twenty-three respectively. But, they're negatives—and that's the way negatives always talk.

Helen works in a big insurance office. There are nine other girls in the same office. They are a live-wire bunch.

All except Helen.

Helen doesn't go to tea dances, isn't invited to the week-ends never has a Sweet Daddy text under her window from an impatient car. Helen goes home to her every night as a good girl should, and sits by the fire. Things the other girls do.

And mother sighs and wonders why a good, sweet pretty girl like Helen should be neglected while all these bold, bad women are flattered and courted.

Helen wonders even more than Mother. For sure she is pretty as any other girl in the office. And doesn't she work as hard! And aren't her personal habits a hundred times better? She knows she does—they are. And yet—the other girls hog the spot light while Helen is left in the wings.

Mart's fate is almost identical—only he has no mother to confide in. He lives at the Y and works in a big furniture house. No one in the house works harder than Mart. Yet Mart, although he's both bright and good looking, is always left out of the rollcall.

On the other hand, the positive lives only be much more noisy and destructive than Helen's or Mart's—even much more immoral, but they succeed, nevertheless, where negative lives fail. They succeed because they do offer other people something—they do excite or amuse people or make them mad, or make them think or love or hate or hustle. They radiate activity.

There is the story of the human race today.

Negatives and Positives:
Blotters and Batteries.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS

By Helen Rowland

CONSIDER, my Daughters, how blessed is she that becometh a second-hand husband!

Yea, how thrice blessed is she that becometh a man's SECOND wife!

For, verily, she reapeth all the profits of marriage and escapeth all of its shocks and surprises.

Behold, by the time the Lord is man created. By the time mother is modeled. But by his FIRST Helen Rowland wife is he REmarried and civilized.

Lo, a man's First Wife is the steam-roller which straighteneth him out and smoothe th down all his ways—the vacuum-cleaner which removeth all his spots and blemishes and bringeth out his natural color.

She stabilizeth his MORALS. For, verily, verily, though his mother may lay the foundation of a man's character, it is his First Wife's portion to nail it DOWN!

Then, let her who weddeth a widower, grass or sod, hang garlands upon his First Wife's memory and sing hosannas in her praise. everlasting gratitude for a Prize Husband!

MEDBURY SAYS—

By John P. Medbury

MUSICAL educations aren't as necessary as they used to be. There are so many electrical devices on the market that all a person needs nowadays to play the piano is a nickel.

PEOPLE used to wonder Beethoven by hand, now they electrocute him.

IT'S quicker death.

LITTLE did Wagner dream that some day his compositions would be executed by electricity.

HE has one consolation, however. So far, nobody has been able to play his pieces by ear.

MODERN children don't mind taking music lessons. They just turn the piano on and go about their playing.

AND when they get through they go in the house and turn it off.

THE only thing they have to know about music is where to find the button.

THEY can play the piano with both arms in a sling.

THESE electrical baby grands very seldom get out of order, the only thing you have to be careful about is the payments.

MOTHER LOVE FOUND IN ALL CLASSES

By DR. FRANK CRANE

THE great emotions of humanity run vertically through society, and not laterally.

That is to say, John D. Rockefeller and the ditch digger feel the same fundamental passions. Alike they hunger and thirst, feel pain and joy, and experience the other intrinsic emotions of the human race.

One of these emotions that is found in all classes of society, in the prostitute as well as the high born lady, in those of low as well as those of high degree, is that of mother love.

No emotion perhaps in the gamut of human feelings is so universal. With very few exceptions every mother wants her child to be happy and wants the best for her child.

No matter how bad a woman may be she wants her child to be good. So true is this that somebody has said that one's real creed is not what one practices one's self, but that one wishes the child to practice. It is not what Johnny's father does that is his real belief, but what he tells Johnny to do.

The new film "Stella Dallas" is very remarkable in that it shows mother love in a most unattractive envelope.

Stella Dallas is a common woman, vain, frivolous and trivial.

But she loves her daughter and loves her as passionately and sincerely as a superior woman could. In fact her daughter is her one passion in life. She lives for her and all her affection centres about her. She loses her love for her husband, or rather he loses his love for her, but no alteration in her daughter's condition can effect her sentiment toward the child.

At last she is faced with the crisis of sacrificing her own life for that of her daughter's welfare. Unhesitatingly she gives her daughter up. The child is received into better circles, and the mother willingly goes down into commonness and tragedy.

It is a most unusual spectacle of mother love shining through surroundings that are entirely inimical.

The story is unfolded with simplicity and earnestness. It appeals to all classes, the good and the bad. Our hearts are wrung whether we be of low or high degree, to see this woman lifted by her great passion from her commonness and sordidness into grandeur by love.

There have been many stories and films about the theme of mother love, but probably none so unusual and striking as that of "Stella Dallas."

EMPLOYER SHOULD CONSIDER HIS CLERK'S TROUBLES

Some employers feel that when their nerves become frayed and taut they should get away for rest and quiet.

Often these same men show very little sympathy for an employe who may be nervous and not up to full speed capacity.

Naturally an employer feels that he has more care and worry and responsibility in a business than his assistants.

But the earnest employe is not free from responsibility.

Aside from the mere routine of his work, the employe must try to do it to please his boss. He often carries the thought that if he is not successful he may lose his job.

The owner of a plant does not have to worry about losing his job.

Of course, he has the important condition to meet of holding his business as against competition and possible unskilled labor where expert workmen are needed.

But the employe is not free from care and worries, which to him in his limited capacity for meeting problems may be just as trying and wearing as the larger ones are to the boss.
